2. Report of the Associate Dean

The provost instructed the Colleges and APGD they will not accept new programs, majors, or minors until the submission of all departmental Planning for Distinction reports are completed. Guo reported to the committee that the Communication proposals were sent back to the college as the result of this moratorium. The question of the online/hybrid assessment and what APGS is exactly looking for was discussed. Guo stated there are three main categories of assessment that needed to be discussed; 1) how course material is presented, 2) Student performance evaluation, and 3) Content delivery and addressing Student Learning Outcomes compared to the on-ground courses. POSC 3703 was an example that addressed these concerns.
